WHY PACIFIC SCENTS?

OUR EXPERIENCE

Our business is a family based business establishing in 2001. We are essential oils producers, we are distilling sandalwood essential Oil. Our principal clients are luxurious cosmetic and best perfume companies in the world (in particular Guerlain and Dior).

We have been working with the same customers / suppliers from 2001, as they are buying from us and we are buying to us, this process allows us to find the best supply sources of essential oils cutting out many intermediaries.

OUR QUALITY

Thanks to our network of sourcing partners, we bring products from sustainable and tightly controlled supply chains to our customers. We are sensible and sustainable management of resources: attention to fragile environments (forests, deserts), organic farming, respect of the balance of local communities. Chromatography analysis are available for each oil if needed.

OUR RANGE

We have a range of more than 50 essential oils, organic carrier oils and floral waters coming from trusted suppliers all over the world backed by 100% satisfaction guarantee.

As all are pure, oils are edible as their extraction is natural without any additives (cold pressed or steam distilled).

We have chosen box free products as we are an environmentally friendly company.

WHY USE ESSENTIAL OILS

Due to their highest quality our oils can be used for diffusion, inhalation, bath, cooking, massage, cosmetics. So many purposes in a natural way.

ESSENTIAL OILS

A LITTLE REMINDER OF ITS DEFINITION

We call EO the very concentrated liquid obtained from a vegetable product through distillation by steam, through dry distillation or through mechanical extraction from zests. Often, only a very small amount is collected from a very large mass of raw material. The distilled part are the flower or the flower bud (lavender, neroli, rose), the zest (lemon), the berry (juniper), the leaf (petit grain bigarade, eucalyptus), sometimes also the grains (carrot), the root (or rhizome – ginger) or wood (sandalwood, cedar).

Man has observed and learnt how to use them for their fabulous healing powers.

USAGE OF ESSENTIAL OILS

Used for centuries in therapeutic care and cosmetics, they can be used in several ways:

- through dermal route: by massage, in a bath, by friction (on carotid, wrist against wrist).
- through respiratory route: on a handkerchief, a pillow in inhalation, in the palm of the hand.
- through air route: in atmospheric diffusion, on stones or wood.
- through oral route: below the tongue, in soft capsules, in gelatine capsules, in a syrup, on bread, on a sugar cube, in a little honey or vegetable oil, on a neutral tablet.
- through rectal route: by suppository.
- through vaginal route: by vaginal "ovum".

In aromatic cosmetics, concentrations between 0.1 and 1% of EO are used for the face, 1 and 3% for the body.

Non soluble in water, they are generally mixed with a vegetable oil to allow them to penetrate the skin in an optimal manner.

PROPERTIES OF ESSENTIAL OILS

Very rich in active ingredients, they produce powerful biological and therapeutic actions. They can be regenerating for the skin and cells, invigorating, antiseptic and anti-inflammatory. Some have an effect on our mood and our wellbeing and act also on the nervous system having calming, relaxing or energising properties.

THE CONSERVATION OF ESSENTIAL OILS

In good conservation conditions some of them can be kept up to 20 years!

The best conditions are:

- Opaque bottle that filters UV rays.
- Away from light.
- Away from heat (>45°C)
- Away from air because EO are volatile

ESSENTIAL OILS

Not advised during the first 3 months of pregnancy and in small children

Do not use pure on the skin. As a rule, test the product by applying a little in the crook of your elbow or on your wrist before using it, at least 48 hours prior to use.

Avoid eye and mucous membranes contact.

Keep out of reach of children.

This guide aims to give information centred on the properties, indications and usage of essential oils. I am neither a doctor nor a pharmacist.

The information provided could not be considered as medical information nor engage my responsibility as to your usage of essential oils for yourself or anyone else.

I strongly invite you to compare the information with that of authoritative experts and the opinion of health professionals.

Think of consulting your general practitioner for any therapeutic use. Only they can give you a true diagnosis and suggest a treatment (dosage, frequency of use, etc...) keeping in mind your particular circumstances and the eventual counter-indications that could apply.

Our business is a family based business establishing in 2001. We mainly sell natural cosmetic products made with sandalwood essential oil. The high quality of the Pacific essential oils is indeed world renowned.

We complement our range of cosmetic products with a selection of essential oils from all over the world.

Since arriving in Australia, we decided to launch our exclusive range of sandalwood cosmetics here, while continuing to working closely with our essential oil producers overseas.

We are boutique business ensuring we maintain our exclusive range as we believe each person is unique!
